Lin Yue | for the AI Product Manager

Candidate number CAND-002Contacts are dissensitized.

Career profile

3 years and 8 months of experience in data products, participation in the Large Model of Client Services project, data analysis and impact assessment

Educational background

University of Suan, Statistics, undergraduate, 2018-2022

Work experience

- 2023.01 to date: Manager of the production of data on the production of scientific and technical products in the South Bay retail trade: responsible for operating the analytical platform, model of the calibration of indicators and the scope of the exercise, covering 65 establishments;

The lead time for monthly reports was reduced from 2.5 to 0.8 days.

- 2022.07-2022.12 | Co-company product assistant: processing of demand and data collection.

Representation of items

- Pilot client knowledge question and answer exercise: responsible for the classification of issues, testing set and manual review process, participation in the RAG recall parameter correction; not responsible for bottom model training

■

- Discovery of the anomaly: use of SQL to establish the bloodline of the indicator, defining the cause of the anomaly as hypothetical and not automatically written into fact.

Capacity tools

SQL, Python data analysis, indicator system, RAG assessment, Prompt, API alignment

Evidentiary statement

Project effects are accompanied by statistical compartments; Agent has less experience in organizing.

Update: 2026-08-18

Lin Yue | for the IA Product Manager